Constitutional Convention Position Update Approved by the June 2019 Convention

The purpose of this update is to determine whether there is member agreement on deleting the first sentence of the League’s 1993 Constitutional Convention position, as revised June 2015. The entire position follows on the next page. The first sentence to be deleted is below:

“The League of Women Voters of New York State does not support or oppose the holding of a constitutional convention.”

The position has been applied twice by the state board. In 1997 the state board voted to oppose the ballot question and in 2017 the state board voted to support it.

However, during the most recent decision in 2017 in which the state board decided to support the referendum, the first sentence was interpreted by some members to foreclose any decision by the state Board to support or oppose the referendum. At the June 2019 convention, the delegates approved an update that would delete the position’s first sentence to confirm state Board responsibility to apply the position to support or oppose using the criteria set forth in the balance of the position and depending on circumstances at the time.

A YES vote on the update will delete the first sentence and confirm the authority of the state Board to either support or oppose a future referendum for a state constitutional convention based on the criteria in the position. The next scheduled referendum is 2037.

A NO vote will leave the position as currently written. Under the new Study and Update Process adopted by the board in 2019, members, local leagues and ILOs may suggest a future update to the position. If a member would prefer a position that does not allow the state League to take a position, or a position that only allows the state League to take a position relying on a separate consensus process to determine member agreement, then the member should vote NO and become part of a future update. The future update would seek to establish member agreement with either of these options.

Background

The New York State constitution can only be changed by amendments approved by two consecutively elected state Legislatures, or through a constitutional convention convened by a specific process described in Article XIX of the constitution. That Article provides that every 20 years the public has a chance to vote on the question of whether to hold a constitutional convention -- “Shall there be a convention to revise the constitution and amend the same?”. In addition, the Legislature can place the question on the ballot at any time.
CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION
Statement of Position
As announced by the State Board, February 1993, revised June 2015

The League of Women Voters of New York State does not support or oppose the holding of a constitutional convention.

The League of Women Voters of New York State recognizes that a constitutional convention is an acceptable (legal) method of amending the New York State Constitution and that the provision requiring periodic mandatory submission of the question of calling a convention is a proper procedure.

The impetus for a convention between the mandated twenty-year referenda should come from the public. However we feel that certain principles are essential throughout the process:

- Education and involvement of the public must be an integral part of each phase of the process.
- Planning should be given adequate time and sufficient funding.
- Nonpartisanship is essential.

The League believes that specific conditions should be incorporated in the policies and procedures established for constitutional conventions:

- Pre-Convention Commission: A preparatory commission should be appointed with adequate time to study the issues, establish the agenda and procedures and prepare position papers for the convention. Such a commission should provide ongoing information to the public and solicit its participation.

- Convention delegates: The League supports the following reforms as positive factors in deciding on support for a constitutional convention. Delegates should be elected by a fair nonpartisan process that complies with federal voting rights provisions and eases ballot access to encourage participation by racial and other minorities. Public financing should be provided for candidates and their positions on issues and convention goals should be widely publicized to enable voters to cast informed votes at their election. Statewide office holders, state or federal legislators, and state judges should not serve as delegates. Revised June 2015.

- Convention process: Procedures must be put in place to reduce partisanship, by assuring that committees and committee chairmanship are beyond party control.

Reasonable time limits must be placed on the length of the convention and its costs.

The issues to be considered must be determined in advance by the pre-convention commission and researched by position papers, which are complete and available at the time of the convention. Meetings of the delegates should be open, held at acceptable convenient hours, with full media coverage.

- Ballot Issues: Widespread public hearings and adequate voter education are necessary prior to the placement of referenda on the ballot. Constitutional amendments recommended by a convention should be submitted to the voters as separate issues.
